Art Unit: 1774

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-13 and 20-24, drawn to a method, classified in class 366 or 264, subclass various.
- II. Claims 14-18, and 19, drawn to a composite with fiber and borazine and a composite with carbon fibers and boron nitride a, classified in class 428 or 501, subclass various.
- III. Claims 25 and 26, drawn to a composite with perform and borazine, classified in class 428 or 501, subclass various.
- IV. Claims 27, 28, 31-35, 36, and 37, drawn to an aircraft with brake, a brake, a method of decelerating, a composite material with 3D needled carbon fiber perform, classified in class 188 or 244 or 501, subclass various.
- V. Claims 29 and 30, drawn to a composite having CVI infiltrated carbon fiber perform, classified in class 501 or 428, subclass various.

2. The inventions are distinct or independent, each from the other because:

The composite of group V requires a CVI infiltrated carbon fiber performs while groups II, III, and group IV does not.

The inventions and composite of group IV require a 3D needled carbon fiber perform while group V, group II, and group III does not.

The composite of group III requires perform and borazine while group V, IV, and group II does not.

The composite of group II requires a carbon fibers and boron nitride while groups V, IV, and group III does not.

Art Unit: 1774

Therefore the composite of group II-V are unrelated and independent inventions since they have different effects (combinations in the composite) or different functions as shown above (MPEP 808.01 and MPEP 806.06).

On the other hand, the composite of group II-V are distinct as claimed for the reason given above due to the divergent subject matter as claimed.

3. Inventions group I and group II-V are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the products as claimed can be made by another materially different method such as providing, mixing, heating, heating with mixing, and molding.

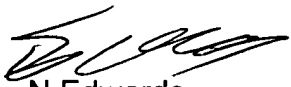

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. A telephone call was made to Paul Rauch (38,591) on 12/5/05 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.
